DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

When Peter Spanos was in the town court before Judge W. Fenner Woodward Thursday morning, to answer to a charge that he had threatened to destroy property, in a letter received by the Connecticut Mills last Saturday, his counsel, Attorney Charles L. Torrey of Putnam entered a demurrer to the complaint, but this was over-ruled. Only sufficient evidence was introduced by the state to establish grounds for holding Spanos for trial at the superior court, probable cause being found and the bonds fixed at $3,000. Spanos was unable to furnish this amount but his transfer to Danbury jail was delayed during Thursday while his friends were busy trying to raise the bail.

Since his arrest Spanos has made no statement pertaining to the case other than that he is not the writer of the letter in which a threat was made to blow up the mills by use of a bomb with time fuse. The strongest point in his favor is that the superior court heard here from Boston when informed in that city by George P. Berris that authorities here desired to interview him. Spanos is a young man and quite a proponent of the local business. He is of Danielson for a number of years and it was stated here Thursday, he has been contemplating buying out a business in Boston.

The state's case is based on a comparison of handwriting of that in the bomb letter and a statement which Spanos was induced to write for officials here.

Word was received Thursday morning of the death of Mrs. Emma LeClaire, of Woonsocket, widow of Dr. Charles J. LeClaire, who was one of Killingly's well known physicians and who died here a few years ago. Mrs. LeClaire's death occurred following a surgical operation and came as a shock to her many friends in Danielson. Following the death of her husband Mrs. LeClaire removed to Woonsocket. She leaves four daughters, Yvonne Corinne, Yolande, Germaine, and a son, Berthel, who is a student at the University of Worcester. Mrs. LeClaire's body is to be brought to Danielson for burial.

Registrars of the town of Killingly are to be in session here next Tuesday for the purpose of receiving the applications of those who desire to be made voters in time to participate in the presidential election in November. This will be the last opportunity this year to file such applications.

Thursday evening the plant of the Jacobs Manufacturing company, producers of mill supplies, closed for the remainder of the week. It is understood that the plant will operate for the immediate future on four days a week basis. Duliness in the textile business is indicated as the reason for curtailing production.

Sidney P. Craft, formerly a resident of Danielson and representative from the town of Killingly, and still later a bank commissioner of the state, has been elected treasurer of the Society for Saving, one of Hartford's important financial institutions with which he has been connected for long years. He was elected at the annual meeting of the society held here Thursday.

Attention was directed Thursday to the desire of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company that Killingly citizens give serious consideration before voting to rescind the vote under which an appropriation of $100,000 was made a few months ago to meet the cost of erecting a school building at Goodyear in this town.

It is the company's intention to carry out its plan to erect a big spinning mill at Goodyear, a work that was under way when the restrictions made by the federal reserve act were lifted. The expansion of various kinds tied up the development plans not only of the Goodyear company, but as well of thousands of other concerns in many lines of business.

It was stated Thursday that the Goodyear company merely desires that the vote of the meeting making the appropriation be allowed to stand, until such time as the company brings forward the development it has promised and which is certain to come when the period of readjustment which is now in full swing has passed away. The company does not expect the town to proceed with school construction plans until development at Goodyear warrants it.

The President Litchfield of the Goodyear company particularly has expressed the wish that Killingly citizens give due consideration to the proposal to rescind the vote before they take action to that end.

Friends of the big concern which has done so much to boom Killingly industrially point out that this corporation is the only one in the town that has ever offered to bear any part of the cost of constructing a public building and that the Goodyear company is pledged to meet 25 per cent of the cost of the schoolhouse or to contribute when the time comes to erect the structure, though that time is not the present, as all concede.

In all probability the end of the world is not forecasted by the temporary depression that is now common to about every enterprise one might mention, and those who think of Killingly's industrial future, it was said Thursday, will consider long and seriously before affronting a big industrial concern that has done much more for Killingly and its people than Killingly has done for the company, no matter how much piffle may be scattered to the contrary.

We are making clear every day now. Bring your apples to our mill, formerly Dowell's machine shop, Broad street, Danielson. Tel. 122-21.—adv.

Henry B. Newton of Worcester was a visitor with friends in Danielson on Thursday.

Many were pleased to call it the "line storm" but whatever the designation of Thursday's downpour it certainly was the most severe rain shower for months.

Samuel Back, son of Attorney and Mrs. Harry E. Back, has matriculated at Yale university and is quartered at Room 495, Derby Hall.

Linae Lester, a bright and useful musical show, was the unusually good offering to the patrons of the Orpheum theater Thursday evening. The company was well above the class of the average theatrical organization that appears in Danielson and the production was in every way thoroughly enjoyed.

Miss Edna Reed has entered the employ of the S. N. E. T. company here as a member of the operating force.

Danielson will be well represented, it is expected, by members of St. James' parish in the Holy Name society demonstration planned to be held in Putnam Sunday, Oct. 10.

Though business is somewhat off standard at the present time, Danielson has one financier who is telling the world how to save $100,000, and not charging a penny for the advice, and all of us notwithstanding that he has not as yet saved $100,000 for himself.

PUTNAM

The weather man decreed Thursday that there should be no Woodstock fair on that day. A wild storm of rain that swept out from the south and grew more intense as the day wore on made it simply out of the question to attempt to hold the annual exhibition, which was postponed for the second time this season.

There was disappointment here, as in Woodstock and in other surrounding towns, because the opportunity is gone to hear an address by Everett J. Lake, republican candidate for governor, who was to have talked at the fair Thursday. Mr. Lake renewed his old acquaintances, leaving during the afternoon to fill engagements having to do with his party's campaign. Mr. Lake and State Treasurer G. H. Harpo's political and city were dinner guests at the Putnam Inn.

The Manhasset Manufacturing Company's big plant closed at noon Thursday for an indefinite period, excepting for the employment of a few workers in different departments. This concern, one of the most important and successful in Putnam, is engaged in the manufacture of tire fabrics, which line of endeavor is at present going through a readjustment process and is inactive everywhere.

There was no word of politics in the talk given by the members of the Norwich club of Putnam and their guests at the Congregational church by Everett J. Lake, guest of honor of the evening; in fact, no one would ever know from anything that stirring Mr. Lake's talk that he is a candidate for governor of Connecticut.

He confined himself to reminiscences of his experiences in France while connected during the world war with military department of the Y. M. C. A. and related most interesting incidents, including one in which he told of the explosion of a shell near the light tower in which he was riding, the flying debris thrown about by the explosion including one hit that clipped him across the bridge of the nose leaving a permanent scar as a souvenir. At the time he was carrying $6,000 francs, the fate of which concerned the members of the party very little at that time.

While visiting about town during Thursday morning, Mr. Lake, in company with Elias M. Wheelock, happened into the club of Putnam where the candidate for governor unexpectedly encountered the Philip Gagne, an overseas man of the Putnam soldiers' war whom he became acquainted at Marsailles. Sergeant Gagne was attached to the Motor Transport corps. "Well, hello, old kid," was the Putnam man, and the candidate for governor unexpectedly encountered the Philip Gagne, an overseas man of the Putnam soldiers' war whom he became acquainted at Marsailles.
